

Royer, M., Renaud, P. (2008) Le système éducatif britannique et la place des Tice : entre objectifs d'efficacité économique et souci d'inclusion – Vu du BETT : voisins proches et différents [The British educational system and the role of information and communication technologies: between the objectives of economic efficiency and the concern for inclusion. As exhibited at the BETT: close and different neighbours] Nouvelle revue de l'adaptation et de la scolarisation, 41

Abstract

The BETT (British Education and Training Technology), the British new education technology exhibition, was held in January 2008. A section devoted to the schooling of pupils with disabilities presented to the public a large number of different types of equipment and software. This article reports on the British educational system and presents the types of products exhibited.

Web link for additional information

http://laboutique.inshea.fr/boutique/liste_produits.cfm?type=31&code_lg=lg_fr&num=11