Associate Professor Sue Davies
Defining an Equal Society

An equal society protects and promotes equal, real freedom and substantive opportunity to live in the ways people value and would choose, so that everyone can flourish.

An equal society recognises people’s different needs, situations and goals and removes the barriers that limit what people can do and can be.

Equalities Review, 2007
Key Drivers

- SEN Code of Practice for Wales (WAG, 2002)
- Inclusive Education (WAG, 2003)
- Children and Young People: Rights into Action (WAG, 2004)
- Inclusion and Pupil Support (WAG, 2005)
- The School Effectiveness Framework (WAG, 2008)

School Effectiveness Framework

Six elements for effective working:

– Leadership
– Working with Others
– Networks of Professional Practice
– Intervention and Support
– Improvement and Accountability
– Curriculum and Teaching
Leadership

• There is a positive and inclusive ethos and vision
• There is effective management and improvement of the systems in relation to including all learners
• The learning environment provides a community for all engaged in school life, with learners and their families at the centre
• Leaders motivate, support and recognise the inclusive work achieved by those in the school
• Leaders show a commitment to excellence, high quality provision and improved outcomes for all learners
Working with others

- There is effective involvement with those who work with the learning setting; including parents, carers and the wider community
- The school contributes to meeting the needs of the community it serves by providing a high quality inclusive learning environment
- The school promotes a culture of social inclusion and respect for diversity
- The wider community is aware of the inclusive strategies implemented by the school
- There is collaborative involvement with professionals who work in partnership with the school to meet the needs of pupils, staff, parents and carers
Networks of Professional Practice

• There is sharing of effective practice across the learning setting, which enables all learners to benefit from consistent and high quality inclusive culture and practice

• There is a collective responsibility for enhancing knowledge and understanding of inclusive practices through engagement in local and national networks

• There is a pyramid approach which enables all learners to make progress and achieve: expert, specialist and core knowledge and understanding
Pyramid Approach

- Expert (one)
- Specialist (Some)
- Core Knowledge (Many)
Intervention and Support

• There is clear strategic planning for early intervention to ensure inclusive culture and practice

• Schools and partners plan and deliver effective integrated services which secure the right support and intervention for all children and young people

• All children and young people are offered opportunities to improve their wellbeing and achieve their potential
Improvement and Accountability

• There are transparent structures and systems in place for comparison of achievements of individuals and groups of learners, which are used to raise standards for all learners
• Data is used effectively to inform learning and teaching strategies
• There is a robust and coherent mechanism of reporting to the wider community, which responds to stakeholder feedback
• There is a culture of reflective practice linked to improving performance and consistency in teaching strategies
• All learners have, and are empowered to take opportunities to become involved in improving their educational experiences and life chances
Curriculum and Teaching

- All learners are enabled to access an appropriate pedagogy that engages and motivates them to learn and achieve.
- All learners are empowered to attain, achieve and demonstrate knowledge and understanding.
Phased Approach

- School’s self evaluation of their inclusive culture, policy and practice
  - what we do
  - how we do it
  - evidence

- Moderation of the School’s Self-Evaluation
  - Working with a moderator

- Action Planning and Development
  - Working towards a specific level

- Application for Assessment
  - Where we are now

- External Moderation
  - Assessing the evidence

- Award of Quality Mark
  - External decision based on stories and evidence
